Detailed Program Description:

CREW Careers hosted Session 1 and 2 of the annual program with Off the Street Club during the first two weeks of March! These sessions were focused on Adaptive Re-use.

Session 1 hosted two speakers. JGMA presented their Cristo Rey project, and Graef presented their Night Ministry project. Attendees from Off the Street Club enthusiastically asked questions and interacted with the speakers.

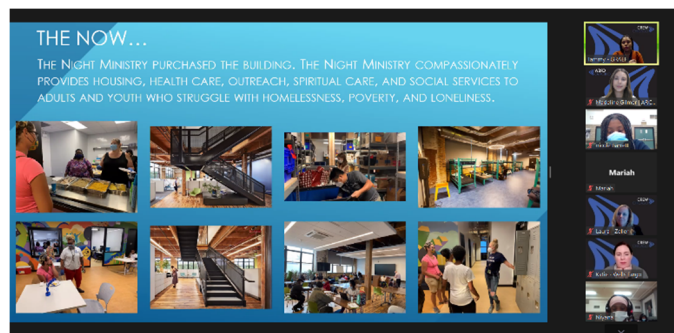

Session 2 focused on discussing the roles around creating an Adaptive Re-use project. OTSC members broke in five groups, learned about their group's role on a project, and presented that assigned role back to the group to close out Session 2. The roles included Developers, Designers, Financial Partners, General Contractors, and Operators.

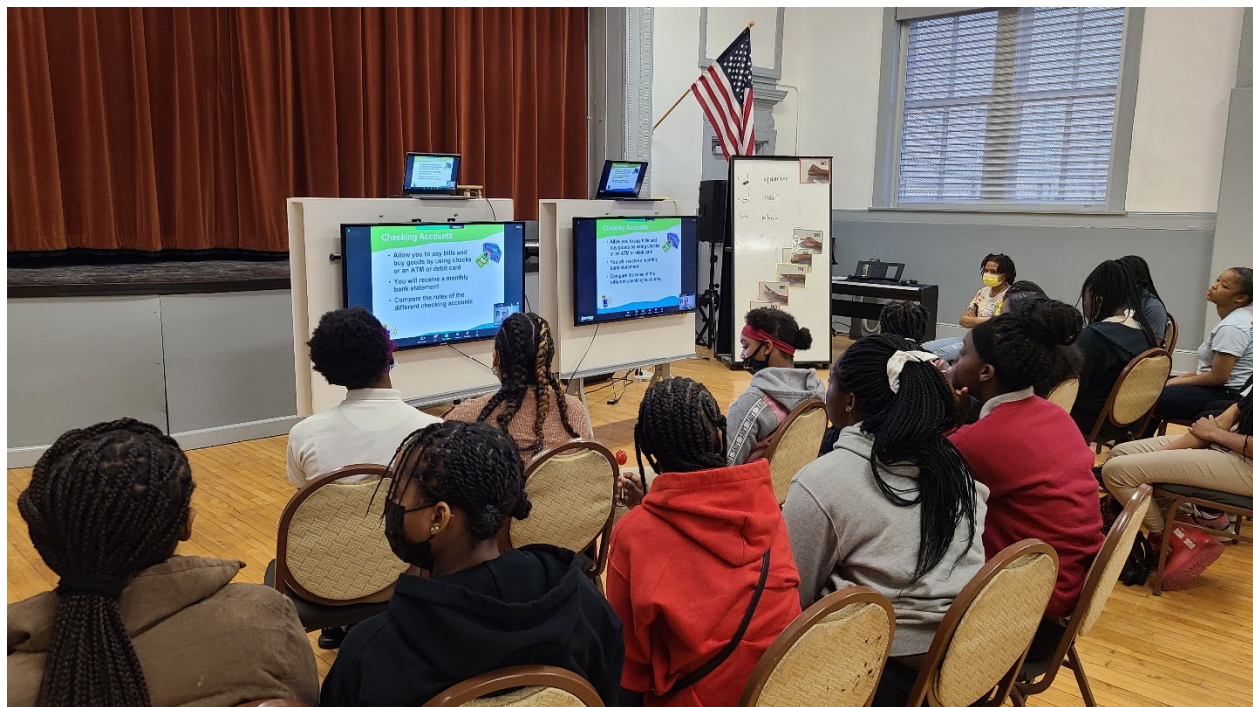

CREW Careers hosted Session 3 and 4 of the annual program with Off the Street Club during the last two weeks of March! These sessions were focused on Budgeting and Financial Literacy.

Session 3 educated the group about basic budgeting terms and a budget template. OTSC members broke into small groups to work through a budgeting exercise with on-site volunteers. CREW representatives ended the session with a Q&A and financial tips they gathered through the years.

Session 4 hosted two speakers. Two Financial Fortitude speakers, Angela Bingham and Aisha McBurrows, shared important processes and tactics for personal finances, including budgeting expenses, understanding W-2 forms, and paying taxes. Andreah Neal, a Relationship Manager at PNC, presented on the banking industry and the potential employment opportunities.

CREW Careers is grateful to have had another successful program with Off the Street Club and looks forward to continuing spending time with the group throughout the year!
