Laila Miranda is a student at Illinois Institute of Technology studying Architecture and pursuing a coterminal Master's in Construction Management. Her internship with NAI Hiffman's Project Services team sparked her interest in commercial real estate, which she is continuing to explore while working toward her Illinois real estate broker license. On campus, Laila serves on the executive board of SHPEtinas, part of the Society of Hispanic Professional Engineers (SHPE). Her goal is to integrate architecture, construction, and real estate to help lead projects through the full development lifecycle, from initial design through construction, delivery, and sale.
